PARGETTING

TUTOR: BILL SARGENT November 6th 2012 Registration at 10.00 a.m.

THE STUDY DAY IS FULLY ILLUSTRATED
AND INCLUDES PRACTICAL DEMONSTRATIONS

Bill Sargent is amongst the highest regarded pargetters in the country. His work can be seen in Suffolk, Essex, Kent and Norfolk and covers most areas of conservation plasterwork and pargetting. Much of this work is on listed buildings and also includes lime mouldings and arches, lime floors and lime washing - together with work in brick, stone and slate.

Bill began plastering in the mid-sixties and worked with his father - continuing the tradition of conservation plasterwork and pargetting begun by his grandfather in 1926. They worked throughout the Anglia region. Since 1971 Bill has been based in mid Suffolk, where many examples of his work can be seen. Bill has worked on many different kinds of period buildings, including those constructed from clay lump, brick, stone and timber. Bill uses materials such as clay plasters, chalk lime, sand lime and putty plasters to produce a traditional finish.

Cost of Study Day: £30.00 - includes tea/coffee on arrival and lunch in the Racquets Court.
